I was very happy to see that Command Alkon was offering a Golf Tournament and Networking Event at the Command Customer Conference 2010. I encourage you to participate.

I have always viewed the tournament as much more than just a fun outing. It is also a wonderful opportunity to meet other Command Alkon customers in a relaxed environment. This is where relationships can be built and real life experiences with the products can be exchanged. I have met many customers during previous golf outings and later called on them when I was looking to add new products to my system that they already had experience with. The motto at Boxley, where I work, is "Getting Better Every Day". We get better by looking at new tools, learning from those who have experience, and networking with others in our industry.

Command Alkon has asked me to team up with them on the Golf Outing this year. Our plan is to encourage social networking in a fun, competitive atmosphere. We'll keep the teams from getting "stacked" by looking at handicaps. We'll also flight the teams so that everyone has a chance to be a winner. If you are looking to add new products to your company's platform, then ask to be paired with someone who is using that product. If you have coworkers that will be playing too, split up. You'll meet more people and widen the network of those you may want and need to talk to in the future.

So, sign up today! I look forward to seeing you in New Orleans.
